AACI Membership

As you may be aware, ProAg is a member of the American Association of Crop Insurers (AACI), which is a non-profit industry service organization representing the interests of insurance companies, agents, and adjusters involved in the Federal Crop Insurance program.

AACI devotes its resources to improving the crop insurance program, with its primary purpose being governmental relations with Congress, the USDA, and other executive branch agencies whose decisions influence the program. Governmental relations efforts include background education, advocacy for program continuation, funding, positive change, response to questions, media relations, general information distribution, and influencing the legislative and administrative rulemaking processes.

If you are not already a member of AACI, I encourage you to consider one of the membership options available for crop insurance agents, and become involved in supporting the improvement and stability of the Federal Crop Insurance program.

For additional information including facts about AACI, AACI-PAC, and membership categories and related dues, please refer to the AACI website at www.cropinsurers.com.

Thank you in advance for your consideration and support!
