

How to Support the American Association of Crop Insurers

American Association of Crop Insurers (AACI) Affiliate Membership is open to any individual interested in supporting private sector delivery of the Federal Crop Insurance Program, including protecting the availability of the program to all farmers, ranchers and growers across the United States. AACI Political Action Committee (AACI-PAC) provides an important avenue to relay AACI's message to Congress advocating the significance and value of the Federal Crop Insurance Program. Your continued support is essential to AACI-PAC's efforts to maintain and improve crop insurance.
